ISEC7 Group at the BlackBerry Security Summit

The EMM expert from Hamburg presents its secure mobile solutions in New York.

Hamburg, July 13, 2016 – The ISEC7 Group, enterprise mobility expert from Hamburg, presents its products at this year’s BlackBerry Security Summit at the Grand Hyatt Hotel in New York City on July 19, 2016. The event is a premier mobile security forum that helps C-level executives and IT decision makers to recognize current vulnerabilities within their mobile environments and gives them the solutions needed to create a more secure, private and trusted workplace.

Marco Gocht, CEO ISEC7 Group AG, says: „We are happy to be a part of the BlackBerry Security Summit. With the increased use of mobile means of communication in companies, we need to have a new look at the security aspect of company data. For many years now, we support companies with special security requirements, e.g. in the field of banking and the armaments industry as well as authorities with our services such as consulting and practical protection of smartphones. We would like to share our insights with the guests of the summit.“

Attendees of this year’s BlackBerry Security Summit can learn about: enabling secure cross-platform communication and collaboration, driving business value from mobility, security considerations for government and enterprises as well as best practices from customer use cases. Stage presentations will be held by CEO John Chen, COO Marty Beard, CSO David Kleidermacher, and other BlackBerry executives as well as by industry experts, customer speakers and partners.
